HELP THE BAD BOY.

Give the helping hand to the small boy who is also a bad boy. Give him a chance. A boy isn't necessarily all bad because he tells a fib or loots an orchard.

Put them on their honor, these youthful offenders, and see how they come back. A boy is not necessarily moral or mentally deficient because he tells a lie. First remember that the child must have an understanding of right and wrong.

A child may steal and still not be defective. There is an apparent weakness in a case of this kind, but there are milder methods of correction.

Cigarette smoking is not a stamp of defectiveness. It's the result of environment.

It is a mistake, in my opinion, to treat a minor offender as a defective because of some petty offense.

Don't make a boy believe he is bad. A commission of a crime or a so-called psychologist may make a mistake and mark a normal child for life.—[Falmouth Pendletonian.]

A man's foot is the only thing that is uglier than a woman's elbow.

Headache

is one of the common symptoms of womanly trouble, and the cause has to be removed before you can rid yourself of it entirely. A medicine that merely kills pain, does not go to the seat of the trouble, and kill the cause. What you need is a woman's medicine—one which acts directly, yet gently, on the womanly organs.

TAKE

Cardui

The Woman's Tonic

After having used Cardui, Miss Lillie Gibson, of Chiseman, Texas, writes: "About three years ago, I was just entering womanhood, and was sick in bed for nearly nine months. Sometimes I would have such headaches, and other aches, I could hardly stand it. I tried Cardui, and now I am cured of all my troubles. I shall praise Cardui as long as I live." Cardui is the medicine you need. Try it. E-69

JUST IN TIME.

Some Paris People May Wait Till It's Too Late.

Don't wait until too late. Be sure to be in time. Just in time with kidney ills. Means curing the backache, the dizziness, the urinary disorders. That so often come with kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for this very purpose.

Here is testimony to prove their merit. Mrs. B. F. Ball, 718 Lancaster St., Lexington, Ky., says: "One of our family was sick for three months from kidney trouble and a lame back. He had sharp pains in his back and was so lame and sore that he couldn't turn in bed without help. His limbs ached day and night and swelled badly. His head ached and he often got dizzy. He was irritable and had trouble from irregular passages of the kidney secretions. If the secretions stood for a little while, there was a dark sediment deposited. He doctored and tried all kinds of kidney remedies, but nothing helped him until he used Doan's Kidney Pills. Three boxes drove away all the troubles."

Price 50c, at all druggists. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Ball recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

1913 A RECORD YEAR IN TIMBER PRESERVATION.

The most notable progress yet recorded in the chemical treatment of timber to prevent decay was made in 1913, according to a report recently issued by the American Wood Preservers' Association, in co-operation with the forest service of the department of agriculture.

The report states that 93 wood-preserving plants in 1913 consumed over 108 millions of creosote oil, 26 million pounds of dry zinc chloride, and nearly 4 million gallons of other liquid preservatives. With these the plants treated over 153 million cubic feet of timber, or about 23 per cent. more than in 1912. The output from additional plants unrecorded would increase the totals given.

Impregnation of wood with oils and chemicals to increase its resistance to decay and insect attack, the report goes on to say, is an industry which has become important in recent years. In Great Britain and most of the European countries practically every wooden cross-tie and telephone or telegraph pole receives preservative treatment. In the United States less than 30 per cent. of the 135 million cross-ties annually consumed are treated, and the proper treatment of an annual consumption of 4 million poles may be said to have scarcely commenced.

Real progress in the United States dates from 1832, when the Kyanizing process, using bichlorides of mercury, was adopted. In 1837 two other processes were introduced, the Burnett process using zinc chloride, and the Bethel process using coal tar creosote. These last processes are very largely in use to-day.

The idea of timber preservation at first made very slow growth in this country, on account of the large supply of cheap and durable timbers and the general disregard shown toward economy in the use of natural resources. In 1885 there were only three pressure plants in the United States; and in 1895 only 15. Since then, however, the industry has grown rapidly; in 1913 there were 117 plants.

HENRY FORD DISCOURSES ON BUSINESS CONDITIONS.

Henry Ford, the multimillionaire automobile manufacturer, whose rise in the business world is one of the most remarkable achievements of American genius and whose ten million dollar profit sharing plan has made him a national character, recently visited the White House and had a conference with President Wilson. Here is what Mr. Ford said about present business conditions: "I believe, and I think practically every other business man believes, that most of the evils aimed at in the President's program exist and ought to be obviated. I am convinced that it would be for the best interests of the country to pass the anti-trust legislation. I think it would have a settling effect and would aid in gringing on the extra prosperity to which the country is entitled. I hope Congress will finish the work before it adjourns. There is absolutely nothing wrong with business. The only trouble is that some people seem pessimistic. If every one would only cheer up and attend to his business this calamity talk would stop immediately. My own business is fifty per cent. better than it was last year!" Mr. Ford also told the President that he saw no evidence of any sort of business depression, psychologically or otherwise, and that in his opinion business was getting better all the time.

DON'T READ IT.

We frequently hear the criticism passed that the churches of America are spending millions to convert the heathen, while thousands are going to the devil within a stone's throw of the church.

At first thought, this seems like an anomalous situation. But it is the way of the world. Those to whom a particularly important missionary message is directed are usually, they become affected by relaxation, and the labor put forth elsewhere becomes not in vain in the analysis of the final result. By saving other nations, America may save herself.

The logic whereof applies very pertinently in the newspaper field in a great many localities. The local merchant, who has his home paper always with him, boosting his game generally for him, working for community uplift and advancement, is sometimes the last to fully appreciate its value to him in a direct business way. He waits until the national advertiser practically takes it away from him and then he will wake up and wonder who has been paying the bills while Rip Van Winkle was asleep."

THE EXPRESS IS IN THIS TOWN AND IN TO STAY

FOR seventy-five years—three-quarters of a century—the express has been the right-hand of the shippers of commercial America. The express came to Paris in 1854, and it came to stay. For 50 years it has been the right-hand of commercial Paris.

It is here to stay. The other day when reports went out that the express companies might retire from business, a protest went up. From whom this protest—the express companies? No! The merchants of the country—shippers everywhere—petitioned Congress that no action might be taken that might have the effect of forcing the express companies to retire. Commercial organizations all over the land have joined in this appeal to Washington.

For seventy-five years in the past and for a good many years in the future Express Service will mean

SUCH IS POLITICS.

Because her husband made campaign and political speeches at night, Mrs. Anna H. Davis, wife of B. W. Davis, secretary to a Congressman from Georgia, has applied for divorce. She claims that he gesticulates so violently that he would upset the furniture, and that, although he was so generous with his oratory, he has only bought her "two cheap dresses" since they were married, in 1912.

This is an uncertain world. The same head that wears the Laurel Wreath to-day may be the receiving station for a flock of bricks to-morrow.

WHEN YOU ARE NERVOUS

you have the first symptom of a run-down system, and nervous people too often conceal their aches and pains and suffer in silence, while, if neglected, this condition often foreruns more serious trouble.

If those so afflicted would stop taking medicine containing alcohol or drugs which menace the foundations of health, and just take the pure, strengthening nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, it would create new blood to pulsate through the organs, refresh their bodies and build up the whole nervous system. It is rich, sustaining nourishment, free from wines, alcohols or drugs. Shun substitutes.
